That decision will be reconsidered annually. When appropriate the Board, or a committee appointed by the Board, will set measurable objectives for achieving diversity (which, at a minimum, will address gender diversity such that at least 30% of its directors self-identify as male and at least 30% of directors self-identify as female). Once measurable objectives have been set, the Board will annually review those objectives and the Company's progress in achieving them.

If independent external advice is sought by the Board, the consultant should provide a declaration of independence to the Company.
 - 15.4.2. A report on Directors remuneration should be provided to the Board. If the Company wishes to make a public statement referring to reliance on independent external advice about Directors remuneration, then the public statement should include a summary of the findings of the report and a confirmation from the consultant as to the independence of the report.
 - 15.4.3. A report on CEO remuneration should be provided to the Board.
 - 15.4.4. A report on remuneration for executives other than the CEO may be provided to the CEO, if the Board considers this is appropriate (provided that no executive should make a decision on their own remuneration).
- 15.5. Remuneration levels – general principles: Remuneration of executives, executive Directors and non-executive Directors should be fair and reasonable in a competitive market for the skills, knowledge and experience required by the Company. Guidance in relation to the remuneration of employees of the Company are available in the Pay & Promotions Policy

15.6. Executive remuneration:

- 15.6.1. Executive remuneration (including executive Directors) should include an element of performance-based pay that is linked to clear targets aligned with the Company's performance objectives and is appropriate to the Company's risk profile.
- 15.6.2. Fixed remuneration should be fair and based on the scale and complexity of the role and should reflect performance requirements and expectations attached to the role.
- 15.6.3. Equity based remuneration should be carefully designed to support a long term approach and not promote undue risk taking.

- 15.7.2. The Company may, with the prior approval of shareholders under the NZX Main Board Listing Rules, pay Directors remuneration, in whole or in part, by the issue of equity securities (as this assists to align the interests of Directors with shareholders).
- 15.7.3. If the Board seeks shareholder approval to increase non-executive Directors remuneration, it will do so in a transparent manner. This means that, rather than simply disclosing a total remuneration pool, the Board will disclose its expectations as to what individual Directors are proposed to be paid, including separately disclosing additional remuneration for the Chair or for being a member of, or chair of, a committee. If the total remuneration pool includes a discretionary pool, the Board will disclose the purposes for that discretionary pool and the circumstances in which it would be used.

15.8. Retiring Directors remuneration: No special remuneration shall be paid to a retiring Director without the authority of an ordinary resolution of shareholders.

- 15.9. Annual report: The remuneration received by Directors and the CEO will be disclosed in each annual report. Remuneration disclosure:

 - 15.9.3. for the CEO should outline each component of remuneration, such as base salary, short-term incentives or long-term incentives. Where incentive payments are subject to performance hurdles, the nature or type of the hurdle should be identified.

Appendix C: Securities Trading Policy

This policy applies to all Directors, officers, employees (including former employees), and contractors of PaySauce Limited (“PaySauce”) and its subsidiaries who intend to trade in PaySauce’s quoted financial products.

The policy also applies to any trading in PaySauce’s quoted financial products in which you are involved or associated, whether or not the quoted financial products are held or beneficially owned in your name, that of your spouse or partner, dependent children and/or trusts of which you are a trustee or any company of which you have control.

In this policy, “trade” includes buying or selling quoted financial products, or agreeing to do so, whether as principal or agent, but it does not include subscription for, or the issue of, new quoted financial products.

In addition to this policy, further specific and stringent rules also apply to trading in PaySauce’s quoted financial products, by “restricted persons” (see “Additional trading restrictions for restricted persons” below).

The Board of Directors (the “Board”) of PaySauce has approved this policy. The Board may approve updates, amendments to and exemptions to this policy from time to time, which may be implemented by written notice.

To the extent of any inconsistency with any previous policy or rules relating to this subject matter, this policy prevails over them.

It is important that if you do not understand any part of this policy, or how it applies to you, you raise the matter with PaySauce’s CFO in the first instance before dealing in any “Restricted Securities” (as defined below) or other quoted financial products covered by this Policy. The boundary between what is and is not in breach of the law is not always clear or easy to determine. If you have any doubt you should raise the matter with the CFO before dealing in any Restricted Securities or other quoted financial products covered by this policy.

The terms of this policy do not replace your legal obligations and this policy is not intended to be legal advice and is not a substitute for legal advice.

Introduction and purpose

This document sets out PaySauce's policy relating to, and rules for dealing in, the following "Restricted Securities":

- PaySauce's ordinary shares; and
- any other quoted financial products of PaySauce, and any listed derivatives (including futures contracts listed on an authorised futures exchange) in respect of PaySauce's quoted financial products, from time to time.

The application of the policy and the requirements under it are separate from, and in addition to, the legal prohibitions on insider trading in New Zealand, and any other applicable country where the Restricted Securities may be listed or quoted.

Insider trading laws

If you have any "material information" (as defined below), it is illegal for you to:

- trade PaySauce's quoted financial products;
- advise or encourage another person to trade or hold PaySauce's quoted financial products;
- advise or encourage a person to advise or encourage another person to trade or hold PaySauce's quoted financial products; or
- pass on the material information to anyone else - including colleagues, family or friends - knowing (or where you ought to have known) that the other person will use that information to trade, continue to hold, or advise or encourage someone else to trade, or hold, PaySauce's quoted financial products.

This offence, called "insider trading", can subject you to criminal liability including large fines and/or imprisonment, and civil liability, which may include being sued by another party or PaySauce, for any loss suffered as a result of illegal trading.

The fundamental rule - insider trading is prohibited at all times

If you possess material information, then you must not (irrespective of whether or not you are a "Restricted Person" (as defined below)):

- trade Restricted Securities;

- advise or encourage others to trade, or hold any Restricted Securities;
- advise or encourage others to advise or encourage others to trade, or hold any Restricted Securities; or
- pass on the material information to others.

The prohibitions apply:

- regardless of how you learn of the information;
- regardless of why you are trading;
- regardless of whether you make a profit on the trade; and
- not only to information concerning PaySauce's quoted financial products. If you have material information in relation to quoted financial products of another issuer, you must not trade in those financial products.

What is “material information”?

“Material information”, in relation to PaySauce, is information that:

- a reasonable person would expect, if it were generally available to the market, to have a material effect on the price of Restricted Securities; and
- relates to the Restricted Securities, or PaySauce, rather than to financial products generally or listed issuers generally.

Information is generally available to the market if it has been released as an NZX announcement, or investors that commonly invest in the Restricted Securities can readily obtain the information (whether by observation, use of expertise, purchase or other means).

It does not matter how you come to know the material information (for example whether you learn it in the course of carrying out your responsibilities, by overhearing it walking through a building, in passing in the kitchen, in a lift or at a social function).

It includes information which is insufficiently definite to warrant disclosure to the public, including rumours, matters of supposition, intentions of a person (including PaySauce) and other types of similar information.

Whilst the following list is intended to be illustrative only and not exhaustive, material information may include information concerning:

- the financial performance of PaySauce;
- a possible change in the strategic direction of PaySauce;

- the introduction of a significant new product or service;
- receipt by PaySauce of any proposal or notice of a potential acquisition of PaySauce;
- a possible acquisition or sale of any assets or company by PaySauce;
- entry into or termination of (or likely entry into or termination of) material contracts or other business arrangements that are not publicly known;
- a possible change in PaySauce's capital structure;
- a change in historical pattern or intention as to payment of dividends;
- Board or senior management changes;
- a material legal claim by or against PaySauce;
- a possible change in the regulatory environment affecting PaySauce; and
- any other unexpected liability which has not been released to the market.

Permissible trading

This Policy is not intended to restrict you from and does not apply to:

- acquisitions and disposals by gift or inheritance;
- acquisitions through an issue of new Restricted Securities, such as an issue of new shares on the exercise of options, under a share split or rights issue, or a dividend reinvestment plan; or
- acquisitions or disposals arising from transfer of legal or beneficial interest in Restricted Securities under the PaySauce Share Incentive Scheme.

Short term trading discouraged

Short term trading (meaning here the buying or selling of quoted financial products within a 3 month period) can be a strong indicator of insider trading, particularly if undertaken on a regular basis and/or in relation to large amounts. Therefore, to reduce the risk of an allegation of insider trading, you are encouraged not to trade quoted financial products on a short term basis unless there are exceptional circumstances discussed with and approved by the relevant personnel at PaySauce. Please contact the CFO in the first instance if you have any questions.

Breaches of policy

Strict compliance with this policy is a condition of employment and engagement of contractors and advisers. Breaches of this policy will be subject to disciplinary action, which may include termination of employment or a contract for services.

If you leave PaySauce

If you leave the Company you are required to remain subject to the provisions of this policy for a period of six months from your date of departure.

If in doubt, don't trade

The rules contained in this policy do not replace your legal obligations. The boundary between what is (and is not) in breach of the law is not always clear. Sometimes behaviour that you consider to be ethical actually may be insider trading. If in doubt, don't trade.

Monitoring of trading

PaySauce may monitor the trading of Directors, officers, employees, contractors and advisers as part of the administration of this policy.

The Financial Markets Authority, the NZX, and governance advisers take an interest in whether PaySauce is complying with this policy.

Confidential information

In addition to the above, you also have a duty of confidentiality to PaySauce. You must not reveal any confidential information concerning PaySauce to a third party (unless that third party has signed a confidentiality agreement with PaySauce and you have been authorised to disclose the confidential information), or to use confidential information in any way which may adversely affect or cause loss to PaySauce, or use confidential information to gain an advantage for yourself. You should ensure that external advisers keep PaySauce information confidential.

Additional trading restrictions for restricted persons

Persons covered by restricted securities trading restrictions

The additional trading restrictions set out below apply to:

- all Directors and employees of PaySauce and its subsidiaries;
- trusts and companies controlled by such persons; and
- anyone else notified by the CFO from time to time. (together referred to as “Restricted Persons”).

Employees and Directors will be considered responsible for the actions of trusts and companies controlled by them. In this respect, “control” is not to be construed in a technical way but by looking at how decisions are made in practice.

Additional trading restrictions for Restricted Persons (black-out period)

Restricted Persons are prohibited from trading in any Restricted Securities during the following specific “black-out” periods:

- from the date that is 30 days prior to PaySauce’s first quarter end, until the third trading day after the release of PaySauce’s operational performance for that quarter to NZX;
- from 30 days prior to PaySauce’s half-year balance date, until the third trading day after the half-year results are released to NZX;
- from the date that is 30 days prior to PaySauce’s third quarter end, until the third trading day after the release of PaySauce’s operational performance for that quarter to NZX;
- from 30 days prior to PaySauce’s year-end balance date, until the third trading day after the full-year results are released to NZX; and
- such other period as determined by the Board (for example including prior to release of a product disclosure statement for a regulated offer of Restricted Securities).

Restricted Persons are not permitted to trade any Restricted Securities during a black-out period unless the Board provides a specific exemption.

Please note that if you hold material information you must not trade Restricted Securities at any time - regardless of these periods.

Requirements before trading

Before trading in Restricted Securities, at any time, Restricted Persons must, in writing:

- notify the Company CFO of their intention to trade in PaySauce's quoted financial products, seek consent to do so (using the 'Request for consent to trade' form attached) and receive a signed copy of the consent to trade;
- confirm that they do not hold material information; and
- confirm that there is no known reason to prohibit trading in any Restricted Securities.

Unless otherwise notified to you in writing by the Board, a consent is only valid for a period of 10 trading days after notification. A consent is automatically deemed to be withdrawn if the person becomes aware of material information prior to trading.

Approval for the 'Request for consent to trade' form can be granted in the following manner:

- All requests must be submitted to the CFO for their approval;
- If an employee of PaySauce is either a member of the senior management or a Director or the value of the proposed trade exceeds $50,000, the CFO must also obtain the CEO's approval;
- If the CFO proposes to trade in PaySauce's quoted financial products, they must submit the notice to the CEO for their consent to trade;
- If the CEO proposes to trade in PaySauce's quoted financial products, they must submit the notice to the Chair of the Board for their consent to trade; and
- If the Chair of the Board proposes to trade in PaySauce's quoted financial products, they must submit the notice to the full Board for their consent to trade.

Requirements after trading

A Restricted Person must advise person(s) from whom they have obtained the consent to trade promptly following completion of any trade, and the Restricted Person must comply with any disclosure obligations it has under the Financial Markets Conduct Act 2013 and the Financial Markets Conduct Regulations 2014 without delay.

Exceptional circumstances

If you need to trade in PaySauce's quoted financial products during a black-out period due to exceptional circumstances please complete a 'Request for consent to trade' form and include a description of your exceptional circumstance, which will need to be approved by the full Board.

Exceptional circumstances for these purposes may include severe financial hardship, compulsion by court order or any other circumstance that is deemed exceptional by the Board.
